

The Buzz From Our Customers...

How Red Condor Impacts Real Organizations Every Day

This anti-spam service has been unbelievable. I receive around 150 emails a day, 10 of which are normally spam, junk or viruses. Since instituting this service I have received zero unwanted emails. My co-workers have about the same experience. Our productivity as an office has gone up. We're lovin' it!

Excellent! Instead of 100-200 messages a day, I get about 4 -- and the daily digests are easy to scan/review. Plus, for those mailboxes that don't get spam, they don't even know it's there and working. No-hassle installing and very prompt response from Red Condor to my questions.

Thank you for making my computer useful again, and saving me at least 30 minutes each morning that I used to spend screening junk mail.

Mack P. Newsome, City of Sonoma, California

I've been using your service now for several weeks and find it to be very valuable. Thanks. I feel you have returned my email to a useable state once again. Your service has been great! You've given me back my email addresses!

Dan Desjardins, Redactive Archive Management Services

Just wanted to say how pleased we have been with our trial of your anti-spam service, and to say we have signed up for the year. It makes a change for an internet service to live up to its pre-sales hype in reality but your anti-spam service certainly does. Well done!!

Since we have implemented Red Condor as our e-mail filtering service, the number of unwanted e-mails that reach our employee's inbox has diminished dramatically. After a simple setup we immediately began enjoying clean inboxes. Since we began using it, the only time spent managing the service has been entering new mailboxes. The cost is no more than we were paying for content filtering software before and with Red Condor, the filtering happens before the e-mails reach our site and take up our bandwidth. Using the Red Condor service has made the hassle of managing e-mail filtering a thing of the past.

We have had several products that we have bought in the past two years in our ongoing attempt to stop the spam. After the investment of a couple of grand in these we still had the problems of frozen computers, our network down etc. etc. I was at wits end and then you walked in the door with a new idea from a company called Red Condor. Not only does it work, it takes no effort on the part of my staff or I, freeing up our time to be productive and assist our clients. Best of all it's inexpensive. Thanks!

In the other spam solutions we looked at, we were dismayed during the demos at all the screens and options and features and configuration settings they were showing us. We had a spam problem and we simply wanted somebody to fix it. We didn't want to have to go to a week long training course to learn how to run the software. We were already spending hours a week fighting spam. We didn't want to add to the complexity. With Red Condor, honestly, you can make a DNS change and be up and running in minutes.
